We furnish blanks, and have for months past to the undertakers of this city upon which to fill out name, age and date of death of each person. To save filling out more than once it would appear that these blanks have been filled out and furnished to another party, sometimes making it necessary to go there and get them. Though as the errands were done by a boy we were unaware of the fact. The COMMERCIAL was the first paper in the city to inaugerate such publication. The late David Coon the veteran undertaker of the city suggested such publication and furnished us the items. Our thanks are due to the present gentlemenly undertakers. It is a mutual benefit.

A correspondent of the Country Gentleman forcibly reminds farmers and owners of village lots that now is the time to trim out the fence corners and roadsides, and make a clean sweep of all noxious weeds about the premises. When they are in blossom is a good time to cut them. If not cut before seeds will ripen after being cut, it is better to rake into piles, and when dry enough burn them. If the weeds are cut and destroyed so that they do not go to seed, in a few years there will be little trouble from this source. If burdocks, cockle burs, and Canada thistles are cut when in bloom, and salt is sprinkled in the hollow stalks, they will be killed, if thoroughly dosed.

The engagement of John McCullough for the opening of the Opera House for the season of '80-'81, will be an event in the amusement annals of this city. To those who have heard McCullough it is unnecessary to speek, to those who have not, we would say the opportunity afforded to hear one of the best tragedians and witness one of the most celebrated plays, should not be missed. But not to McCullough alone will fall the honor of the evening, as the members of his support are among the best actors of the country. Mr. Fred. B. Warde, of "Diplomacy" fame. Mr. Edmund K. Collier, who appeared in this city last season in the "Celebrated Cave" are gentleman of such well known ability as to need no word of praise, and who does not remember the genial and talented Harry Barton who sonjourned with us a couple of summers ago, agent of Owen Fawcett.

The boss cider vinegar maker of the State, a pure article is Geo. D. Wiard about three miles east of the city. He began a boy with a common farmer's press. He soon invented an improvement and kept on improving exercising his own genius for invention until he has to day one of the most efficient presses in the state, using up thousands of barrels of apples annually. A large proportion of the cider retailed as cider vinegar never saw a cider mill, a large quantity has just cider enough to take off slightly the curse. Pure cider vinegar such as Wiard makes is a luxury. He supplies quite a number of our groceries and Detroit buys hundreds of barrels annually. It would pay the central to put in a side track at his place. Besides he exports large quantites of Iron ore.

—NEW GOODS.—Mrs. O. A. Dennis has received a large assortment of new and stylish Millinery goods, and invites the ladies to call and examine them.

A PLEASANT SABBATH AT A TEMPERANCE HOTEL.

MR. EDITOR.—In my recent visit to Grand Rapids, I spent the Sabbath with my wife both being feeble at a public house. I called on my old friend Dr. Ira Shedd for advice and he conducted us to the Eagle Hotel, a Temperance house kept by J. K. Johnson, where I was very soon made to feel at home, the proprietor, polite waiters, the neat and tidy bed, the well supplied tables and the Sunday quiet all combined to impart a home like feeling so very desirable to a traveler.

When the hour of public worship arrived the Proprietor accompanied us to the Baptist house one of the most beautiful and capacious houses in the west. I listened to a very eloquent and sensible sermon from Rev. Mr. Butterfield. Dr. Graves being absent at Chanlevaux. There is so much complaint that temperance people at home forget their principles abroad and frequently patronize whiskey hotels, excusing themselves on the ground of lack of accommodations. You have no such excuse at Grand Rapids.

S. W. PATTISON

A MAN DISAPPEARS. FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED AND A MAN ARRESTED.

Robert Herald who resides near Belleville, came to this city Saturday with a load of wood. He was so foolish as to visit the saloons and engage in a drunken spree. Sunday afternoon about 4 P. M. Prof. Mathews over the river had his attention arrested by this man running across his yard and another man, Mathew Dolan, who has been since arrested in pursuit. Herald had left his team, which stood until the professor in pity unhitched them so that they might graze on the grass. They wandered off and were found near Dentons. In about an hour and a half Dolan was seen to return alone. Herald not coming home, Robert Smith came to the city Tuesday to look him up and the matter was brought to the attention of the authorities, Constable Shemeld arrested Dolan. The hearing will come off at Justice Forsyth's office at 10 A. M. to-day.

The Four-Sided School Election

And the Burlesque School Meeting.

A Make-Believe All Around.

The school election was a quadruple affair. Four names were presented and four different tickets. Each party presented two tickets. There were the combinations, Ninde and Conklin, Conklin and Sampson,—versus—Crane and Sampson, Ninde and Sampson. The first ticket won in the race. Mr. Crane refused the use of his name, Mr. Sampson, as soon as he found what was up, hastened to the polls and proposed to thrash the first man who voted for him; not many were cast for him afterwards, for there are few who like to contest the wrath of such a tall customer.

The parties elected will be safe for the district. We do not believe that the Board will adopt any radical changes. The resolution proposed and adopted by Mr. Woodruff to maintain the Academical or High School Department was a farce, for such a department is actually in operation and opened up with a good attendance. So far as a classical department is concerned, it can only be built up by securing a cultured, classical scholar of well known fame at the head of the Institution, and then increasing the teachers in this department as the increase of pupils shall require. The resolution to go on and fit students for the University, without appropriating the funds, was ludicrous. Mr. T. C. Owen saw the joke and made it more obvious by proposing to appropriate $13.000 for this object. It was an eye-opener. Professors Osborn and Daniel Putnam made sensible speeches. The meeting adjourned with a broad grin on every countenance.

Father De Rever Welcomed Home,

A Grand Demonstration.

Thursday evening the city band, with stately tread and inspiring music, marched to the depot and received Father De Bever, who returned from his visit to Ireland and his native land, Holland, on the 7 P. M. train. He was escorted to the church, the entire front of the church and parsonage being illuminated with Chinese lanterns, also the garden. The church was full of people and hundreds gathered in front who could not gain admission. After religious services, the congregation was dismissed to the yard, where a platform had been erected. Seated upon the platform were a number of visiting clergymen from Detroit, Ann Arbor, and elsewhere, sixteen in number.

Mr. Nicholas Cordary made the following address of welcome:

REV. FATHER DE BEVER:—I have the honor to welcome you home, though I think this honor might have been conferred on some more worthy member than I am.

Rev. Father De Bever, I welcome you home in the name of the committee and congregation of St. John's church, and, also, in the name of the people of Ypsilanti. Therefore, be welcome, and we hope that your health, which had been impaired when you left, is completely restored. We also hope that you have enjoyed yourself well among your dear relatives and friends abroad, which we have no doubt you did. Dear and Reverend Father, we thank Divine Providence for having permitted you to arrive safely home to your flock, so that you may once more assume your labor in the ministry of God's church, which we are convinced it is your most earnest desire to do. Therefore, once more, be welcome! And as this year is the twenty-fifth anniversary of your elevation to the Priesthood, Reverend Father, we wish you much joy and congratulate you. On this occasion ours is a double joy, and we wish that it may please Divine Providence that you may live to celebrate your fiftieth anniversary among us.

But let me make a few remarks before we congratulate yon again. Reverend and Dear Father, you and your very reverend confrerer alone can tell what it is to be a good and dutiful pastor for twenty-five years. How many trials and hardships you have gone through, which only love to God and His church could have prompted you to endure! Therefore, we congratulate you and wish you much joy; and let me, Reverend Father, present to you this carriage, which we have contributed with willing hearts, the congregation and committee of this St. John's Church, also some dear friends outside of this congregation. Please receive this little gift as a token of deep respect and sincere gratitude towards you; and may it please an all-wise Providence that you may long live among us to enjoy it. This we wish to you and to all the Reverend Fathers present. Yea, this we wish you all in the name of St. John's congregation and committee of St. John's Church of Ypsilanti.

Father DeBever responded in a happy vein. The first sound on reaching the city was the music "Sweet Home." Home is sweet. He had had a pleasant visit abroad. His tour of Ireland was one of great interest. He mentioned the large cities and localities he had visited. Upon his first arrival he had the honor of dining with the Bishop of Cork. He said "that Irishmen venerated America and Americans, looking to this country not only for bread but for liberty." His visit to Holland recalled the sacred recollections of his boyhood. He visited so hard as to make him sick a few weeks, but restored to health he made it all up. He thanked his people for this grand reception and paid a fine compliment to the band. He esteemed this grand reception on the part of his people and citizens, not as a compliment to himself, for he was unworthy, but a recognition of the God whose preist he was and of religion whose possessors are most happy. He thanked his people for that beautiful present of a carriage, recognized the fact that the priest, Rev. Father Maesfrax, who had been left in charge and the church committee as having done well. As this was the 25th anniversary of his priesthood he hoped that all might live to see the 50th, and at all events meet around the throne of God and the Lamb. Bidding all good-night, a little girl presente him with a bouquet, after which the band played "Auld Lang Syne,"—"Should Auld Acquaintance be Forgot."

The carriage, a very nice one, stood in front of the staging, the wheels wreathed with evergreens and the body encircled with flowers. It is one of H. M. Curtis's best, and cost $200.

It will be well to add that Miss Ellen Mathews had her piano and with her choir gave a welcome song.

VIRGINIUS.

A Splendid Audience, and a Splendid Play. The Eminent Tragedian, John McCullough, at His Best.

The welcome extended John McCullough and company at Rouse's opera hall, last evening, was one of which the eminent tragedian might well feel prond, as he expressed himself after the play. The culture and wealth of Peoria were largely represented—the clergy bar, and other professions had leading members present, and all in all it was a fine audience. Prof. Spencer's favorite onchestra gave new and popular selections, and rerved to round off the entertainment elegantly.

Of the play we can say nothing; of the men and women who acted it there can be but words of praise given. It was Sheridan Knowles' masterpiece, "Virginius," in the hands and brain of America's master player, supported by a company of ladies and gentlemeu of acknowledgeed reputation. Of Mr. McCullough we can say nothing save that he was grand. No human creature, be his mind ever so dull and his heart cold, can look upon the grandeur of Virginius and keep the nature within calm. The passions, the sympathy, the anxious interest, and pales and flushes of the audience follow the noble Roman from first to last, and strange indeed must be the nature that unmoved—untouched to the very depths—can see the curtain fall on the last act. To witness such a play, and listen to such players, is a privilege not to be under-estimated.

It is not saying too much to assure Manager W. M. Conner of a warm welcome whenever again he visits Peoria. To his careful and judicious management Mr. McCullough cannot fail to attribute much of his splendid financial success for the two seasons now about to close. Mr. Conner is an old journalist of New York city, and a gentleman we will ever be glad to meet.—Peoria Advertiser.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

SPECIAL PREMIUM.—We wish to call the attention of our readers, and especially of the butter makers among our lady readers, to a very handsome piece of silver ware, viz: a Combinaeion Caater and Fruit Bowl, which our enterprising crockery merchants, Littlefield & Weeks, purpose offering as a special premium for the best six-gallon crock of butter exhibited at the coming Fair, to be held at Ypsilanti Sept. 21-24. The castes is of best quality of metal, triple silver plate, and is valued at $25.00. Littlefield & Weeks have this caster displayed on their showcase, and it is attracting a great deal of attention. It certainly is a handsome present for any one to own. Call at their place and see it. 858-4t

—Mr. C. F. Littlefield who is at present in the eastern markets buying goods for the Crockery store, writes home to his folks that he will bring with him on his return to Ypsilanti an article of flexible glassware (a napkin) woven in a silk loom and as fine, if not finer, than silk itself, that can be washed, ironed and folded. A very novelty. The firm that gave him this article are manufacturing shawls (of which he saw a handsome one for the Cincinnati Exposition,) neckties and bonnets. This napkin will be placed on exhibition with the Littlefield & Weeks prize castor at the crockery store upon the return of Mr. L. The firm will place on sale one of the handsomest lines of goods ever offered to Ypsilantians.

—A. Williams & Co.. will have an Opening Day for the display of their new fall and winter dry goods, on Tuesday, Sept. 14th, 1880. It will be to the interest of their friends and patrons to call and see their immense stock, for goods will be fully displayed, though you do not wish to purchase.

EDITORIAL NOTES,

COMMERCIAL 25 cents to Jan. 1st, 1881.

Frederick T. Chester, of Hillsdale, is the Greenback candidate for Congress.

President Hayes is visiting the Mormons and the Pacific Coast. He is a superb visitor.

One of the most amazing things is that a northern Democratic will consent to play second fiddle to an ex-rebel.

$12,000,000 has already been expended upon the State Capitol at Albany and $8000-000 more is estimated as required to finish it.

Put it in your noddle and keep it there. Michigan is going to give Garfield and Arthur 40,000, Ohio 25,000, Indiana from 5,000 to 10,000.

No such victory ever perched upon the banners of the Republican party as will be witnessed this fall. Garfield is used to big majorities.

Every delegate to the Democratic National Convention is requested to furnish $50,00 to help elect Hancock. Some of the delegates are mad.

"Divine Providence and the Republican party have given the country unprecedented prosperity". Prof. Wilson at the club rooms Wednesday evening.

The Seaham Pit, Eng. is the scene of a terrible disaster, one of the most fearful on record, only eighteen lives saved out of 250 miners in the Pit.

We all know what ticket Jeff. Davis will vote. Who doubts if Lincoln was living where he would stand? His vote would antagonize the arch-traitor.

IT IS a stampede in Vermont and so it is to be all over the north. Hancock stands a better chance of being struck with lightning than of ever sitting in the presidential chair.

The want of Sam Tilden's barrel in this campaign and the tightness of the iron hoops on English's barrel have driven the confederate chieftains to desperation for funds.

"I can forgive much in Hancock for being a nominee of the Democratic party on account of his effective work in killing off Democrats for over four years."

NEIGHBOR JOHN BOYCE.

In Abraham Lincoln's grand opening speech of his renowned struggle with Stephen A. Douglas, in 1858, he charged the Democratic party, which was then defending slavery, with putting out the moral lights all about us."

Amid the clouds of democratic slander, you should bear in mind that no democratic congressman who served with Garfield has ever said a word against his integrity. This of itself is the highest possible evidence in his favor.

The general lack of enthusiasm on the part of the Hancock and English campaign is charged to the mismanagment of Barnum. It may be, but we guess it is due to the fact that the American people won't enthuse over a man who votes in direct opposition to the way he fought.

Two months to election and the Democratic party already routed, horse, foot and dragoons—bag and baggage, as thoroughly demolished as the army of Sennacherib when the angel of the Lord had smitten it with mortal fright.

Jeff Davis in a speech soon after the war said to his southern comrades "You must now win by the ballot what you could not win by the bullet" and Wade Hampton says "The issues in this election are what Davis, Lee and Stonewall Jackson fought for."

It is true an occasional repentant rebel who votes the Republican ticket and has adopted republican principles, is given a subordinate office, not placed however where they can dictate or affect the principles of the party or policies of the country.

You want a change neighbor Democrat? Is not the country doing well? Why not let well enough alone? Ah! I see it, you want the offices. Well the multitude who don't want offices can't see the policy of turning out experienced clerks for green hands.

Grand Rapids has been the scene of a great disaster. The late rains had loosened the reservoir dam supplying the city with water, and the flood came down in torrents sweeping several streets of the city, wrecking dwellings and doing an immense mischief, but no loss of human life.

From Our Washington Correspondent

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September, 1880.

MR. EDITOR:—Since our last letter to you the Demoorats of this city have had their grand rally and ratification meeting. They displayed many torches, flags, bunting Chinese lanterns, etc., etc., and made a very loud noise. They had great trouble, however, First. they quarreled over the honors of the occasion. The greatest unwashed of them all, the man who has all his life been a fierce Bourbon, and who was the bitterest opponent of the war and its results, was not dealt the first honors of the occasion. This made trouble, and it is brewing yet. The complaint is that now, when victory is about to perch upon the banners of the Democratic party, those who have stood idly by and done nothing for the cause are allowed to step to the front and usurp the honors that belong to those who have been diligent in the dark hours of adversity to the party. In the abstract this is true, and if the party were about to meet with a success, it would be manifestly unjust to allow the laggards to gather up the spoils. But these are only generalities, for there is no danger that either the diligent or lazy will get any benefits from the success of the party in the present campaign. The people of the country are not yet ready to hand the control of the Government over to the rebel Democracy. We call them rebel—that is a hard name, and ought not to be applied to any man or set of men unless merited. We think it is rightly applied. And when a friend of ours so applied it the other day, a man who had been in the Union army and is now a Democrat became offended. Our reply to him is that all Democrats were not rebels during the war, but it is certain that all rebels were Democrats. It is beyond a question true that of all the traitors in arms from 1861 to 1865, and all the Copperheads, Knights of the Golden Circle, and their allies of the North who were aiding and abetting the Rebellion, not one of them was a Republican. We therefore maintain that as between the two parties, one is the loyal Republican, the other the rebel Democratic.

We know not how many of our readers will have the opportunity of seeing the illustration of the Democratic camp as shown in Puck for last week. Chairman H. W. Barnum is showing General Hancock through their museum. In the foreground is seen the Democratic mule with rear parts at both ends and no head, representing the North and the South.

The rents made by secession, nullification, etc., are poorly stitched up, and the seams are ragged. Hancock is struck with terror at the idea of becoming the head to such an animal, while all around the room are to be seen the relics of the party, the cast off implements of party warfare, such as Booth's pistol with which he shot Lincoln, the hoopskirt and bonnet in which Jeff Davis escaped, a skeleton from Andersonville, the rag baby, a whipping post, an auction block for selling slaves, the slave's chain and shackles, the uniform and masks of the Ku Klux Klan, the record of political murders in the South, the fugitive slave act, a bloodhound, a lamp post for hanging negroes in 1863, repudiated bonds, inflation, etc., etc. The Democratic principles that have obtained in the past could not be more truly portrayed than the artist has shown in this illustration, words do not express it. What a record it is with which this party goes before the country. Dishonesty, theft of property in man, inhumanity, slavery, repudiation of honest debts, treason, rebellion, war, rapine, murder by starvation, assassination of the chief magistrate, midnight murders, and all things else incarnately wicked and inhuman, and last but not least of things specified, fraud at the ballot box, make the real platform upon which this party asks the support of the people.

PARKS,

Don t Make a Mistake.

Why will you use salves and lotions, and other outward appliances for the cure of skin diseases? The relief thus obtained can only be temporary. Why not strike at the root of all skin diseases by getting your blood and liver in a healthy, vigorous condition? This can only be done effectively and thoroughly by the use of Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla. 845. 1 yr.

COUNTY, STATE, AND GENERAL NEWS.

From the Courier.

Hon. Edwin Willits, candidate for congress in this district, was given a reception at Blissfield, Lenawee Co., recently by Mr. A. D. Gilmore. The grounds and residence were handsomely illuminated, and the occasion is said to have been a very pleasant one.

The immense bridge to be built by the Toledo and Ann Arbor road over the Huron river and Michigan Central tracks, at this place, is now under way. It will be a remarkable structure of the kind for Michigan, as bridges are not generally extensive in this state.

PIONEER MEETING.

The seventh annual meeting of the Washtenaw County Pioneer Society was held at the Court House last Wednesday, called to order by C. H. Wines, of Sylvan, the president. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Holmes, of Chelsea. The minutes of the Saline meeting was read by the secretary, Lorenzo Davis.

A committee of five was appointed by the chair to report the names of officers for the ensuing year, consisting of E. D. Lay, Ypsilanti; Thos. Holmes, Chelsea; Dennis Warner, Dexter; H. Carpenter, Ann Arbor; and Wm. M Gregory, Saline.

The secretary then read the following biographies of members who had died since the last meeting at Saline:

Thos. H. Godfrey, aged 82; born in Orange county, N. Y., in 1798; settled in Sylvan in 1834; died March 29, 1880.

Mrs. Harriet Granger, born at West Springfield, Mass., January 3, 1797; settled in Scio in 1834; died August 17, 1880.

Louis L. James, born at Goshen, Mass., May 5, 1805; died at his home at Dexter; aged 75 years.

Mrs. Sarah Fuller, born in Connecticut; died Saturday, June 26th; aged 86 years.

Franklin R. Copeland, born in Maine, Dec. 4, 1821; was resident of Dexter; died July 24, 1878.

Edward Litchfield, born March 12, 1798, in the town of brooklyn, Windham county, Connecticut. He settled in Freedom in 1833, and afterwards removed to Webster; died July 31, 1880.

Geo. Mills, born in Massachusetts in 1806; settled in Saline in 1830.

Thos. Holmes thought the obituary notices should be placed upon the archives of the society.

The following was offered by J. Q. A. Sessions and carried:

Resolved, That the vice-presidents of the society are hereby instructed to present to the secretary, brief obituaries of all members of the society who shall die in their respective townships, and all others who have settled in this county previous to the year 1880.

On motion, the secretary was requested to correspond with Smith Wilbur and others, for the purpose of securing, if possible, maps of the townships containing the names of all the original settlers in the county.

Jas. J. Parshall, the treasurer, then reported the total sum received, $129,76; expended, $124,65; leaving a baiance of $5,11.

Mrs. N. H. Pierce, chairman of a committee to furnish a room for the society, reported verbally. Many methods had been suggested for raising funds, but none decided upon. It was finally resolved to raise $100 by subscription.

On motion of Samson Parker, of Lima, a committee of one from each township was appointed for the purpose of acting in the matter.

The meeting then adjourned. The citizens having invited the society to dinner at G. W. Cropsey's restaurant, they repaired to that place and partook of the same. About seventy-five set down to the tables.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The necrologist, Chas. A. Chapin, read the following brief sketches of pioneers who had passed away since the last annual meeting:

Wm. Dancer; born at Whitfield, Northhamptonshire, England, October 31, 1779; came to the United States in 1834, (May) and settled in Lima about five miles south of Dexter. A few years after he moved on to a farm about a mile and a half from Dexter. In 1851 he removed to the village where he remained till his death, which occurred August 16, 1878, at the age of 78 years.

Hon. Jas. Kingsley; born at Canterbury, Windham county, Connecticut, January 6, 1797. He settled in Ann Arbor in the fall of 1826; admitted to the bar of this county June 18, 1827; appointed judge of probate in 1828, which office he held 8 years. Appointed a trustee of the university in 1831; a member of the Territorial legislature from 1830 to 1833. In 1837, 1848 and 1869 he was a representative in the state legislature. In the state senate 1837, 1838 and 1842, when he drew the charter of the Michigan Central railroad. In 1850 he was a member of the constitutional convention, and on the judiciary committee. In 1852 he was elected regent of the university, which office he held for six years. He was mayor of the city of Ann Arbor in 1855, the second under the charter. About six years before his death he resided on a farm one mile east of Corunna, Shiawassee county. He died in Ann Arbor at the house of his daughter, Mrs. C. A. Chapin, on Saturday, August 17, 1878, aged nearly 82 years. His funeral was held at the Episcopal church. The remains were borne by six old citizens, friends of the deceased—Hiram Arnold, Collins B. Cook, Aretus Dunn, Dor Kellog, Loren Mills and Charles Thayer. Rev. Wyllys Hall officiated. No sermon was preached, but tributes to his memory prepared by ex-Gov. Felch, Judge Lawrence and Chas. A. Chapin were read by Rev. Mr. Hall. They all bore witness to the honesty, uprightness and high attainments of Judge Kingsley.

Thos. Peatt; born at Pond Ridge, Westchester county, N. Y., October 31, 1808. In 1835 with his wife he moved to Michigan and settled in Scio. He died in Dexter, August 24, 1878, aged 69 years.

Mrs. Mary Clements; born in Schuylerville, Saratoga county, N. Y., April 15, 1816; died at Dixboro, August 1878, aged 62 years. A resident of the township of Superior 39 years.

Joseph Wyckoff; born in Seneca county, N. Y, June 25, 1793; moved to the township of Superior in 1828; died September 7, 1878, aged 85 years.

HORROR ON HORROR.

Now an ocean steamer is caught in a cyclone—the Vera Cruz on its regular trip from New York to Havana and Vera Cruz. It was literally mashed to pieces by the winds and waves. Passengers, officers and crew numbered 82. There was only one surviving passenger to tell the fearful tale. Ten others were saved. How any mortal man escaped is a wonder. This passenger thus narrates the fearful story:

NO EXCITEMENT.

"There was no such thing as excitement on board—even the children were quiet and reasonable. Each assisted the other in arranging life preservers, and Gen. Torbert was like a sunbeam, laughing and joking with all while he assisted them. The storm at this time was most terrific. Such waves, wind and rain can never be described. A sea broke into the engine-room and through the saloon, making a crash like a battery of artillery and striking terror for an iustant into every one, dashing saloon passengers, tables, doors and the loose furniture together and into water knee deep.

AN ARGUMENT ABOUT LIFE.

"The general came to me immediately after this with Master Wallenedge, about 9 years old, and said, 'Romeo, you and I must take this little boy and care for him between us.' I allowed that he had but 15 minutes to live, and argued that it would be mercy to let the little fellow go down with the ship, but the general kindly insisted, and said, 'I cannot leave this little fellow behind; you and I must save him. Take him until I come back.' The next minute the sea came into the saloon more terrifically than ever, filling it waist deep in water and smashing the most of the port side. The little fellow and myself were rolled over among the chairs and tables and I lost him, but he was picked up and brought to his father. I called to. General Torbert to come to the deck with me. He said: 'I will go aft and meet you above.' I never saw Gen. Torbert again alive.

PASSENGERS BIDDING EACH OTHER GOOD BYE.

"The passengers now crowded into the social hall, which was at the top of the saloon steps. Here they said farewell to each other. We adjusted the life preservers and extended sympathy one to the other. Never before, perhaps, was there a set of passengers so quiet and unexcited under circumstances so appalling.

A WRECK STREWN SEA.

"To say there were 10,000,000 pieces of wrecked stores all clashing together five minutes after the ship went to pieces would be gross exaggeration, but even with such a statement no idea could be conceived as to the state of the case. Men, women, children, horses, cats and rats mixed in and went in, through and over this mass. The waves were 50 feet high, not in swells and ridges, but in peaks like sugar loaves. Four peaks beating like surf tore into each other. When we went up on one it was not to go down on the other side, but to be turned over at the top and sent rolling through the air to the opposite one, and so back and forth. This lasted about two or three hours, after which the waves took a more natural character and came in swelling ridges, and we whirled down and over them to the opposite side.

COMMUNICATION.

The article referred to was written by the local editor.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COMMERCIAL:

SIR:—A short time ago appeared in your journal an article relating to the Michigan State Normal School and communications on that subject were suggested.

The theory advanced was very suave and elaborate, and no doubt applies strictly to the state of affairs in the State Institution in the city of Ypsilanti, as at present conducted by the somewhat extensive corps of State employes in charge; but the system therein detailed is based upon an entire misapprehension of Normal schools and Normal School work.

This institution is intended only to prepare instructors for our public schools. For these it is desired to have teachers who can take the raw material of the intellect of the State and educate it in the best possible manner. Teachers are wanted who can go into schools, graded or ungraded, where may be ten or twenty or fifty children and youth, from the litle chubby-faced tyro who "never went to school before," to the almost young man or woman who "wants another year's schooling," and help them all to become wiser.

It is necessary that the teacher should know how to read and write, should be master of the relations of numbers and of words, and be able to define his position as to his location and "environment". Do these seem small fields for effort and narrow limits to a suitable preparation? Not so. The wisest of the world's scholars are working in those fields and within these limits. Orators and authors—astronomers and mathematicians—philologists and historians—discoverers and inventors—are but the outgrowth of the alphabet, the multiplication table and the endless book of nature. Ah, no! These fields are not too narrow for even the profound erudition of Normal school instruction.

By far the greater part of those who come to this school for instruction are those who wish to learn how to teach the rudiments of these things. They do not know them thoroughly; if they did they would not spend a year, or several years, learning them. They come to be taught reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar and geography, and the grand fundamental principle of fitting these pupils to become good teachers seems to be completely lost sight of in the present status of the State Normal school. The only way to prepare them to teach well is to let them be taught well. This is the key of Normal training. All the abstract "methods" in the world can never take the place of a thorough, systematic course of teaching, by a thorough, skillful, practical teacher. These pupils can only give what they have received. Let them have the very best instruction and they will know how to give the same again to others.

Give the new comers and the beginners in the Normal shool the best teathers. One can teach English better if he knows other languages besides; he can teach addition and subtraction better if he understands the binomial theorem and conic sections; he can teach geography and history better if he is familiar with the elements of matter and of mind.

When the new, ambitious, industrious and faithful students first come to the Normal, let them have the best teachers. They have come to be well taught the very things they do not know. These new, untrained pupils afford the very choicest material for a true teacher that could be desired, and it is pitiful that it should be starved and vitiated by the ignorant nihility of "student teaching."

To inculcate "methods" let the Normal pupils go into a class room and see an intelligent, educated, cultivated and refined teacher who knows a thousand more fold than the class demands, instruct scholars how to learn, and let every student have just such teachers all the while he or she may be there, whether it may be one year or four years.

"Of all who have passed from the 'Common School Course,' which comprises by far the larger proportion of the Normal, is it too much to say that not one has ever been thoroughly and honestly instructed by a competent teacher? In this connection it should be said that musical pupils from the Normal are recognized everywhere as being well drilled by first-class instruction from the very beginning, and they always know how to teach what they have learned.

Of the practical workings of the present system of "methods and pupil teaching" no description will be given in this paper. It is not intended to be censorious or critical but to consider what is required from the Normal school, and how far it fulfills the requirement.

It should be added that nothing could be more remote from the desire of the writer than to have it for a moment supposed that the slightest posibility existed that the laborious and devoted faculty of the Normal school found in the system of "pupil teaching" the least facilities for leisure or absence or any pursuit outside of Normal school duties. DOCUMUS.

Rev. Mr. Washburn preached his farewell sermon last Sunday evening. Having faithfully served the church for two years he leaves for the conference with the unanimous request of the church that he return another year. The theme of the evening's discourse was taken from the 20th chapter of Acts, containing Paul's last words of advice to the church at Ephesus.

In looking over his work in that city, containing one of the seven wonders of the world, he made some points which are beneficial to the ministry of to-day.

He served the Lord.

He declared the whole gospel to them.

He preached for the good of the people.

He taught publicly and from house to house.

And here is a great lack in the ministry of to-day. Personal work for Christ.

He preached repentance and faith in Christ. Repentance cannot serve without the aid of faith in the Saviour.

He was so taken up with his work that he thought of nothing else. But for fear people would say he was preaching for money he supported himself by hard work.

It is right that ministers should receive pay, enabling them to devote their entire time to the ministry, but rather than that community should think money their chief aim the minister should support himself. He should be so absolved in his work that the "pay" should not enter his mind.

It might be well to state here that Mr. Washburn's life affords an example of the fact that ministers do not preach for the money. He had charge of an educational institution in Minn., where he received $2,000 a year and house rent with the promise of an increase. He voluntarily gave up the position and came to Dentons, Wayne county, at a salary of $600 a year.

He spoke of the watch-care a minister should take over his charge, giving some of the trying and some of the pleasant things connected with the ministry. If he returned another year would try and advance the prosperity of the church. If he did not return, he hoped they would get a more faithful shepherd.

Both Charlie Collins and Sarah O'Connel were bound over to the next term of court. Constable Shemeld has been on the look out for the watch since July 6th. Law breakers are never safe.

FALSE REASONING.

Suppose a machine should fail to perform its work, and the owner, instead of trying to ascertain the cause of failure and remedy it, should conclude to run right along, and argue that as the machine had heretofore come around all right it would soon be so again. If a general and permanent break-down ansued could anyone be blamed but himself? Now, precisely this way do people act and argue when the "human machine" is out of order. When the liver is "torpid" and bowels constipated everyone knows that Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets afford prompt and permanent relief. Yet some guess the "machine" will come around all right, and do nothing. Could any system of false reasoning be more pernicious? Suppose the blood be out of order and there be pimples, ulcers, or running sores, with scrofulous tumors, swellings and general debility, and those thus affected should refuse to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, guessing that the blood would purify itself, could any body be blamed but themselves, if a general and permanent break-down of health ensued? No remedy yet known equals the Discovery in curing all scrofulous throat, bronchial and lung diseases. Sold by all druggists.

Now is the Time.

Don't wait until you are nearly dead and bed-ridden. Don't wait until you have found, to your sorrow, that mineral poisons and alcoholic stimulants, bitters, etc., will aggravate diseases of the blood, kidneys and liver. But now, before another day passes, make haste to procure and use Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla. It never fails to cure all bloud and skin diseases, all liver complaints and urinary troubles. 845 1 yr.

A Queer Notion.

Many people think it cheaper to buy 25 cent sizes of a proprietary medicine. But they make a mistake. For instance, Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry contains about eight times the quantity of ordinary 25 cent balsams. Besides it takes a less quantity of Wistar's Balsam to cure a cold. A single dose is often sufficient. For deep seated Colds and comsumption it has proven itself to be the best and quickest cure ever discovered. 845 1 yr.

Shrewdness and Ability.

There is no denying the virt[illegible] the Hop plant, and the proprietors of [illegible] Bitters have shown great shrewdnes[illegible] ability in compounding a Bitters, who[illegible] tues are so palpable to every one's ob[illegible] tion.—Examiner and Chronicle.

Remarkable Cures of Kidney Disea[illegible]

Mr. L. Jackson, of Boston, an extensive prodnce dealer, was persuaded to give the Kidney-Wort a trial. He writes July 21, for more and says:

"I used most of one package myself last winter. I had soreness across my kidneys and my water would turn milky after standing a short time. The Kidney Wort cured me. I gave some of it to a lady who had for a long time been obliged to make water every half hour or less, and sufirerd much from irritation of the urinary organs, and it cured her. About two months ago, I gave some of the medicine to a gentleman who is foreman in a Sewing Machine Manufactory in Boston. I met him last Thursday, and he told me he was using the third package, and that the night before he laid all night without getting up to make water, a thing he had not done before for more than fifteen years. He says it has done more for him than all he has ever taken before, and he has paid out more than a thousand dollars for medicine. It is evident from these facts, that Kidney-Wort is a great thing for diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs.

For Thirty Years.

For thirty years Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry has been kept for sale by druggists generally, and in all that time there has not been a single complaint made, but on the contrary the druggists and the people acknowledge it to be the best remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Comsumption; Bronchits, Asthma, and all lung Diseases. 845 1 yr.

Man's Noblest Work.

This is an age of great and wonderfu inventions. Steam, electricity, water, air, all are made to serve man, but unquestionably the greatest inventions are those which preserve man's health and prolong his life, and among the greatest of these is DR KING'S NEW DISCOVERY for Consumption Its effects are truly wonderful and hundreds are happy to-day, who once looked forward to an early grave. For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, loss of voice, Hoarseness, Croup, or any affection whatever of the Throat, Chest or Lungs, Dr. King's New Discovery will positively cure. We can cheerfully recommend it to all, and can unhesitatingly say is the the only sure cure for Throat and Lung affections. Trial bottles ten cents, regular size $1.00. For sale by Frank Smith, Ypsilanti. 859–1y alt. 1

Housekeeper's FRIEND.

The above cut does not represent the "House that Jack Built," but shows what some active Yankee genious has brought about to ameliorate the hard lot of the overheated housewife or kitchen maid. It needs but little intelligence to see that it is a Gasoline Stove. To be appreciated it needs to be used but a very few days. For facility of operation, for comfort to the operator, and for light draft on the family exchequer, there is no other stove fit to be named the same day in comparison with it. A few were put into use last season, and created a perfect enthusiasm in the minds and hearts of the women who were fortunate enough to have husbands who were thus mindful of their comfort. We would refer to them here but those gentle ladies might be frightened to see their names in print. We have a full line of the stoves for sale on

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

The most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. FROM

REV. P. N. GRANGER,

Presiding Elder of the St. Alban's District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

DR. J. B KENDALL & Co., Gents: My experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks, when he became better but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring bone was forming. I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

Resdectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Office U. S. Marshall, Western Dist. of Mich. Kalamazoo, April 15th, 1879.

I received the two bottles of your spavin cure forwarded by express in January last. I am happy to state that it performed all your advertisement called for. In three weeks after I commenced using it the spavin was entirely removed and a valuable horse restored to usefulness.

Verry truly yours, JOHN PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

Is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, and yet it is penetrating, and powerful to reach any deep seated pain, or to remove any bony growth or any other enlargement if used for several days, such as SPAVINS, splints, curbs, culloes, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used on man or beast. It is known to be the best linament for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated circular. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success, to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $.100 per bottle, or six bottles for $5.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS, or sent to any address on receipt of price
